

Editor Raps 'Loading' of Voter List

Liquidation of a national newspaper committee which fought unsuccessfully for three years to obtain federal legislation forbidding the Internal Revenue Service from "censoring" newspapers and magazines by disallowing as income tax deductions the cost of public-issue advertisements and editorial promotion activities was announced today noon by Alex. H. Washburn, editor and publisher of Hope Star, in a National Newspaper Week speech before the Hope Kiwanis Club.

Washburn said the Press Committee to Eliminate Censorship by Taxation, of which he was chairman, and Dr. John R. Steelman, publisher of the Suburban Record of Silver Springs, Md., co-chairman, had maintained a Washington headquarters since 1960 but found "the political climate unfriendly." He said the organization had 205 members, mostly newspapers in small and medium-size cities.

The Hope editor was invited to take the national committee post following a long and losing battle with the Treasury over the deductibility of expense incurred in circulating two state-wide Arkansas petitions concerning the state sales tax in 1955 and 1957—a fight which he told the luncheon club cost him personally $18,000.

Government vs. Press

Washburn warned that an arrogant federal officialdom is steadily inching in on the free press with economic controls. He said newspapers, being machine shops, already suffer greatly from inflation, with some mechanical items up 500% since World War II. Now, he said, there are these specific fronts on which government is attacking the press:

1. The New York newspaper strike which ran almost half a year disclosed that unemployment pay was given the mechanical crafts during the strike, and with union benefits, paid idle men almost as much as they would have earned on the job. Yet the unemployment fund is contributed entirely by the newspapers — only to find it used against them in a news blackout.

2. The first of this year the Post Office Department increased the cost of newspapers and other second-class mail users by 10%, with additional 10% hikes in 1964 and 1965 — yet the rural electric co-operatives were given a rate only one-fourth the new second-class tariff.

3. The Department of Agriculture is attempting to set up its own marketing news wire, at the low government wire rate, in competition with Associated Press and United Press International wires — and at the same time the government is holding hearings on a proposal to increase the rate now charged the regular newspaper wires.

The Welfare Vote

Washburn said: "Two hundred years ago Thomas Jefferson, father of American democracy and Joseph Pulitzer founder of the Democratic New York World at the turn of this century, alike recognized the corruption that would come to our republic as our population piled up in cities — an implicit warning against the infiltration of the electorate by the welfare vote. And it is at the ballot-box that political climates are established."

"I have repeated in speeches in Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas that welfare clients and recipients of surplus commodities comprise 21.1% of the electorate here in Hempstead County, Arkansas — and published reports since then claim it runs as high as 30% in some counties in the state.

"You work, pay taxes, and vote for the good of your country. The other fellow eats taxes, votes for the candidate who promises him still more — and the devil take America.

"If there's arrogance and a political climate in Washington unfriendly to the free press and free Americans it's because Washington has the money with which to buy votes — and they don't need either the press or conscientious voters.

"The answer is obvious. Strike the relievers off the voting rolls. Talk about 'conflict of interest' when a congressman or cabinet officer works for legislation affecting his private business — what greater 'conflict of interest' could there possibly be than the spectacle of a relief voter balloting on the office that can either enrich him or cut his water off? This parting shot from a newspaper editor 40 years in the business: The tragedy of people is they start off with a country and wind up with a government!"

Wants to Build Additional Lines

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas Power & Light Co. asked the state Public Service Commission today for authority to build a 3.9 mile, 13 kilovolt transmission line in the White River National Wildlife Refuge.

The company said the line is needed to supply power to a pumping station the Army Engineers plan to build to pump surplus water from the refuge into the White River.

Cost of the project was estimated at $24,639.

Would Keep Cuts From River Money

WASHINGTON (AP)—The entire Arkansas congressional delegation and a four-man Oklahoma congressional delegation met Monday with Budget Director Kermit Gordon in an effort to prevent fund cuts for the Arkansas River project in 1964.

The meeting was arranged by Sen. J. L. McClellan, D-Ark. There have been rumors that the Arkansas River project is due for a 32 per cent fund cut in the next budget.

Gordon said that he had requested no cuts in the project budget but added that Army Engineers might do so when they submit their requests for funds for the next fiscal year.

The delegation told Gordon that postponement of the project's 1970 completion date would add to the overall cost of the project. They said the increase in cost would nullify any savings resulting from a budget cut next year.

Sens. Mike Maroney and J. Howard Edmondson and Reps. Carl Albert and Ed Edmondson represented Oklahoma.

Fireman Is Recovering From Burns

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Billy B. Parks, Little Rock fireman who was injured Saturday night when the walls of a burning building caved in on him and two other firemen, said Monday he was on his way out of the building when the walls fell.

Parks, recovering in a Little Rock hospital from second and third degree burns, said Carlos Graham, 31, who died in the collapse, came in and told him shut down the hose and get out.

Graham grabbed the hose with him, Parks said, and both ran toward the door. They were nearly out when the walls gave way he said.

Parks said he did not know that assistant chief Charles Bailey was in the building when it crashed. Bailey, 53, suffered broken legs, a fractured skull and internal injuries. He remains in critical condition.

Graham is believed to have suffocated under the rubble before aid could reach him.

Firemen and volunteers dug with bare hands through hot bricks and debris in order to reach the three men.

Producer Uses Publicity of Cleopatra to Make Cheap Movie With the Same Stars

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Anatole De Gruinwald is the fair-haired boy of the film world today.

He did it with a simple, golden idea.

De Gruinwald got the idea after a movie company spent $40 million filming and beating the drums for "Cleopatra," starring Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton.

His idea: To make another picture using the same stars — but leaving out the Nile River and the asp — and costing $36,750,000 less to produce.

There were no costly delays, no big rows. Anatole, an old hand at handling temperamental stars, brought the picture — "The V.I.P.s" — in on time at its budgeted price of $3,250,000, which includes $1 million for Miss Taylor, now her standard fee for a film.

Capitalizing nicely on the interest stirred up by Cleopatra's ordeal, "The V.I.P.s" has proved an instant hit.

It is pure marshmallow fudge, featuring a group of assorted people waiting to take a delayed flight at a London airport.

Continues to Tell Probers of Gangland

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joseph Valachi swore today that Vito Genovese, his old boss in a crime syndicate, has "lots of interests" in legalized gambling in Las Vegas, Nev.

He said he understood that Genovese has "a tie" with the gambling operations of Myer Lansky in Las Vegas.

Genovese, convicted on a narcotics charge, is now in the Leavenworth federal prison. Valachi has testified that Genovese nevertheless still bosses New York operations of a nationwide crime syndicate.

Valachi, in his second day of testimony before the Senate Investigations subcommittee, was questioned by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y. Javits ask Valachi whether it was true that Genovese has "lots of interests in gambling" in Las Vegas.

"Yes, sir," said Valachi. Javits: "As far as you know, is Vito Genovese still in Las Vegas?"

Valachi: "Yes, senator," and named Lansky as one of those with whom he said Genovese is associated.

Javits: "They are associated and it persists to this day?"

Valachi: "Yes, sir."

Javits then sought without success to explore for some inside facts about the death of Abe Reles, which Valachi had mentioned

Towboats Hit, One Man Is Still Missing

MIDLAND, Pa. (AP)—A ferry boat carrying eight autos collided with a towboat today in heavy fog on the Ohio River. Police reported one man missing and presumed drowned.

Neither boat sank and both managed to make the shore safely.

Police said the missing man, identified only by the last name of Pidgeon, was one of three persons who leaped into the river after the collision. The crew of the towboat rescued the other two.

There was no immediate indication how many persons were aboard the ferry, which piled behind Midland and Shippingport in extreme western Pennsylvania near the Ohio border.

None of the autos was thrown into the river. Both the ferry, although heavily damaged, and the towboat proceeded to Shippingport and tied up.

Police said the towboat, the Humphrey, was bound upriver pushing 11 empty barges. It is owned by the Pittsburgh Coal Co.

The ferry, according to police, consisted of a small tugboat which pushed a flat barge. It was operated by Jack Morrow and C.S. Christy of Shippingport, the home of the nation's first full-scale atomic power plant.

U.S., Russia Quietly Talking Over a Trade Deal That Could Ease Cold War More

By ENDRE MARTON

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union are quietly negotiating a consular treaty which could chip more frost from the Cold War and ultimately aid in any increased U.S.-Soviet trade.

The talks are under way in Moscow against a background of heightened American interest in trade with the Soviet Union. The administration is considering the possibility of selling wheat to the Soviets, a transaction some feel could be the first step in freer American-Soviet trade relations.

The proposed treaty would enable each of the two countries to open consulates in cities outside each other's capital.

If an agreement is reached, the Senate would have to ratify the pact before it could become effective, just as in the case of the limited nuclear test ban treaty.

Generally the job of a consulate is to look after the interests of its citizens traveling or doing business abroad. Although embassies have taken over some of these commercial functions, an embassy's chief mission is to represent its country in dealings with a foreign power.

Ward M. Cameron, an assistant legal adviser of the State Department, is conducting the talks with the Soviet foreign ministry. He left for Moscow after the Soviet Union recommended Sept. 14 that legal experts of the two foreign offices discuss the issue.

Although letters between President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Soviet Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinov, which led to U.S. recognition of the U.S.S.R. proposed a consular treaty, no pact was ever concluded.

Nevertheless, the two powers had consular relations for a while.

In 1941, the United States set up a consular office in Vladivostok, the big Soviet Pacific coast port, and got permission in 1947 to open one in Leningrad. The latter was never opened, however.

In the mid-1930s, the Russians opened offices in New York, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The three Soviet consulates here and the American one in Vladivostok were closed in 1948, the year of the Berlin blockade and the Soviet bloc's campaign against Yugoslavia's Tito. The immediate reason of the closings however, was the desperate escape from Moscow's New York consulate of Oksana S. Kasenkina, a Soviet teacher, who leaped from a third-floor window to avoid returning to the Soviet Union.

When Soviet Premier Khrushchev visited with President Eisenhower at Camp Davis in 1959, the two briefly touched on the possibility of a consular agreement.

The U2 spy plane incident put the issue into the deep freeze and although it was revived in 1962 when the United States prepared a draft of an agreement and sent it to Moscow, it remained virtually dormant until last summer.

When Secretary of State Dean Rusk visited the Soviet capital to sign the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, he brought up the question again. The Russians were interested — and sent the invitation which resulted in the dispatch of Cameron.

Asks Damages for Fighting Fire

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A farm worker from Snowball, Ark., asked the state Claims Commission Monday for $2,181 for injuries he received while fighting a fire under orders of a forest ranger.

Jewel Blair said last Feb. 18 he was directed by Forestry Commission Ranger Johnnie Morton to help fight a fire along the Buffalo River. Blair said he objected to being ordered off his job but was told that refusal to obey the ranger could subject him to a penalty.

Blair said his legs were burned severely.

NAACP Asks Kennedy Not to Appear

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Negro leaders said today they had wired President Kennedy asking him not to appear at the Arkansas Livestock Exposition Thursday because the exposition bars Negroes.

Clyde Byrd, manager of the exposition, said Negroes would be allowed to hear the President free of charge "like everyone else."

L. C. Bates, field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Dr. Jerry T. Jewell, president of the NAACP's Little Rock branch, said they sent the telegrams to the President.

Bates said Jewell's telegram called Barton Coliseum on the exposition grounds "one of the worst segregated places in the state."

Byrd said Negroes do not usually attend the exposition rodeo in the coliseum but they are not barred from it. "We sell only about a dozen tickets a year to Negroes," he said.

Tickets are not needed for the President's appearance. It will be outdoors near Barton Coliseum, which is on the livestock show grounds. Jewell said the coliseum had a policy of segregation. Byrd said this was not true.

Bates said he wired Kennedy that "Since you have persistently advised members of your staff not to appear before segregated audiences, we hope you will not set a precedent that will harm the cause you so earnestly espouse. We will be very disappointed if our President gives aid to the racists by appearing at a segregated institution." The livestock show is a kind of state fair. A carnival and various exhibits and shows are included. Byrd said most show tickets are sold. Negroes attend events on the midway.

President Kennedy will speak at the dedication of Greers Ferry Dam at Heber Springs Thursday morning, then go by helicopter to the livestock show grounds.

Details of JFK's Visit to Arkansas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House revealed details Monday for President Kennedy's visit to Arkansas Thursday to dedicate Greers Ferry Dam at Heber Springs and attend the Livestock Exposition at Little Rock.

Kennedy will arrive at Little Rock Air Force Base at 10:15 a.m. after departing from Andrews Air Force Base near Washington two hours earlier.

He will receive full military honors at the Little Rock base and then will depart by helicopter for the dam site where he is scheduled to land at 11 a.m.

Kennedy will have a chance to eat a box lunch following the dedication and then will leave at 1 p.m., again by helicopter, for the Livestock Exposition. Following his address there he will leave at 2:30 p.m. to return to the air base where he will arrive at 2:30 p.m. He will depart by jet at 2:40 p.m. for the return trip to Washington.

The President is expected to speak from a prepared text but the White House did not reveal what the subject would be.

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said the Arkansas trip would be a nonpolitical one, similar to one from which Kennedy returned Monday that included a stop at Salt Lake City, Utah.

In his speech there, Kennedy took aim at some of the foreign policy views of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., who could be the Republican opponent in the 1964 presidential election.

U.S. Brakes International Deficit Climb

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States appears to have put the brakes on the steep climb of its international payments deficit, Secretary of the Treasury C. Douglas Dillon told the world's finance ministers today.

The deficit—the difference between what Uncle Sam spends abroad and what he takes in—set a record of $3.9 billion in 1960, eased down to $2.2 billion in 1962, then set off alarm bells by soaring to an annual rate of $4.2 billion in the first half of 1963.

In an address prepared for the annual meeting of governing boards of the International Monetary Fund and World Bank, Dillon explained the administration's taking steps to reduce the flow of dollars and he added:

"We can already see indications that the deterioration in our accounts during the first half of the year is being arrested."

Dillon endorsed American-proposed studies of the international financial structure but he added "I would like to make one point crystal clear:

"The United States does not view possible improvements in the methods of supplying international liquidity as relieving it of the compelling and immediate task of reducing its own payments deficit."

Speaking shortly before Dillon, the new managing director of the $15.5 billion fund also said it would be "wise and prudent" to begin a groundwork for future expansion of the world's currency resources.

The director, Pierre - Paul Schweitzer, gave qualified support for the proposals for studying possible needed changes in the payments system, provided the changes are within the framework of the monetary fund.

For the governors representing nearly 100 countries, Dillon painted a generally bright picture of the American economy.

Schweitzer announced earlier that IMF will undertake the staff study of the problem which U.S. officials foresee—a growing overall shortage of gold and dollars available to governments to support a rapidly expanding volume of world trade.

City Police report that four cars were burglarized here last night but not too much was listed missing. Two autos at George Frazier's home and two at Forrest Singleton's home were entered. Some 12 green stamp books were taken from the Frazier car and a notebook, and key. Nothing was missing from the Singleton vehicles.

5 Million Visit Arkansas Parks

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Attendance at state parks will reach five million before the current season ends, Parks Director Bryan Stearns estimated today.

Stearns said incomplete figures indicate park use is up 20 to 25 per cent over last year when the total attendance was four million. Park receipts definitely are up 25 per cent, he said.

Stearns attributed increased attendance to expanding public participation in outdoor recreation generally and to expanded facilities at Queen Wilhelmina and Lake Chicot parks in particular.

Lake Chicot long has been one of the fastest-growing parks in the system. New facilities opened at Queen Wilhelmina this year included the restored Queen Wilhelmina Inn.

Tuition Cut Off Due to Segregation

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—An associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court has stopped state tuition grants for white children attending private segregated schools in Virginia's Prince Edward County.

In Washington Monday, Justice William J. Brennan Jr. granted a stay requested by Negroes of a U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals decree which had opened legal channels for the grants.

He said the stay would remain in effect until the Supreme Court resolves this and other issues involved in an appeal of the Circuit Court decision. Counsel for the Negroes expect to file the appeal by Oct. 15.

Last August the Circuit Court held that U.S. District Judge Oran R. Lewis had erred in ruling that public schools in Prince Edward County may not remain closed as long as free schools elsewhere in Virginia remain open.

The Appellate Court also reversed Judge Lewis' decision that no tax credits and tuition grants from public funds may go toward private schooling in the county as long as its public schools are closed.

The Prince Edward School Foundation has sponsored private segregated classes for white children since the public schools were closed in 1959 to avoid court-ordered integration.

Since the stay reinstates Judge Lewis' injunction against use of state tuition grants, white parents will have to bear the financial burden of the private school.

Will Try to Keep Rights Commission

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders try again today to extend the Civil Rights Commission for one year. Even Sen. Richard B. Russell, a leading Southern opponent, concedes the compromise measure will pass.

The six-year-old commission, whose authority expired Monday, appeared in for at least a week of suspended animation. It would have 60 days to wind up its business if the extension did not go through.

The one-year extension is a stop-gap to preserve the life of the commission until Congress considers President Kennedy's civil rights legislation, which includes a four-year extension and greatly broadened powers for the commission.

The commission's job is to look into complaints of civil rights violations and recommend remedies.

Sees Passage of Tax Cut and Rights Bills

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration lost its first efforts today to speed up action on the $11 billion tax cut, and a top Senate leader conceded there may be no tax cut until next year.

President Kennedy told Democratic congressional leaders at a breakfast meeting that he wants action this year on civil rights and a tax reduction.

And Senate and House leaders told newsmen as they left there was no valid reason why both bills couldn't be passed. They pledged to make every effort to do so.

However, shortly after the congressional leaders left the White House, the Senate Finance Committee, by an 11-4 margin, voted to uphold the right of its chairman, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., to set the time for Senate action.

The committee rejected a motion by Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., to hurry up committee action so the bill would be ready for the Senate about Nov. 1.

Byrd has said he plans at least six weeks of hearings on the complex tax measure.

And at a later news conference Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., assistant Senate Democratic leader, said the administration intends to press for action on the Kennedy civil rights measure even though this may take up so much time that there will be none left for action on the House-passed tax reduction.

If the tax bill isn't passed by the Senate this year, Humphrey said, then Congress will have "a running start for 1964" and action will be sought in January.

House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said there was no intention of putting aside either civil rights or the tax bill to make way for the other.

Without the proposed $11 billion tax cut, he said, the economy cannot meet the demand for jobs posed by an exploding population.

Without enactment of the civil rights bill, he said, the nation will diminish morally.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana echoed the

Are there really women in this world who say "I dread Fall: it gives me a feeling of melancholy"?

It would seem to us that it is the beginning of everything. Just look on the women's page of the paper and read "What's Doing?" You will find something like this:

Alpha Delta Chapter, Delta Kappa Gamma meeting, Nine Hole Golf Tournament at Hope Country Club, Hope Garden Club Council Meeting on Wednesday, PTA Meeting, Bridge Club Meeting and Church Circle Meeting . . . these are actually just a few that were listed in our Hope Star. The one and only thing to do is be ready for whatever comes along . . .

If you want to feel and look like a different person, just place your body under the influence of a good girl. In our case, we suggest the Marja; it is absolutely the smoothest fitting garment, light as a feather, made of Lycra, comes in several different styles and will DO things for you and yours!

Once you find yourself neatly fitted into this long-leg pantie girdle and the pounds have just melted from your middle and hips, then you will want to try on a knit dress or suit. For instance, the nationally advertised Bianca in that luscious crushed-berly shade, has a shirt-top with casual collar that can be worn open or closed, cuffed sleeves and slim skirt. The price is $69.95. The three-piece suit in chartreuse color is rich as gold, the jacket is a little longer, the inside shell has short sleeves and a slightly scooped neckline, the skirt is slim . . . you have both a dress and suit in one, and the price is $49.95. We simply had to have the 2-pc. basic black knit straight and simple, wear it with the tiny seed pearls or one of the new pins, black gloves and a tiny velvet turban . . . smart!

These are only a few; we cannot describe them all, but we know that Fall feeling is here . . . it is shopping time; we hope to be seeing you at Raley's Style Shoppe, Hope's House of Fashion at 523 West 3rd St.

in testimony Friday. The Friday hearing Valachi had sought to illustrate his contention that mobsters in jail can arrange the murder of associates on the outside.

He cited the case of two witnesses who he said, met untimely ends while Genovese was awaiting a murder trial. He mentioned then that Reles had been "thrown out" of a hotel window and killed in New York, while waiting to testify.

Javits, quoting Valachi's testimony that "they threw him out" asked:

"Who was 'they'?"

Valachi clearly uncomfortable under the questioning, said: "That was the rumor. Let's put it this way—whenever was in charge."

Then, as Javits pressed for a better answer, Valachi declared: "The police threw him." But he said all he really knew about it was that "the boys" of the mob had told this story.

"You believed it?" Javits asked.

"Yes, I did."

A group of about 15 U.S. marshals surrounded Valachi as a protective guard to make sure nothing happened to the ex-gangster as he entered the old Senate office building and was taken to the crowded big hearing room.

Valachi, naturally a man of iron gray hair, showed up last week with dazzling reddish brown hair. Today his hair was more on the brown side.

He told reporters last week that he dyed his hair as a disguise because of reports the underworld has condemned him as an informer and put a $100,000 price on his head.

Valachi looked neither to right nor left and acknowledged no questions from newsmen as he and his guards walked swiftly to the hearing room this morning.

Valachi says he decided to tell his story of a national crime syndicate, which he says is known as La Cosa Nostra, because he received the kiss of death from the man he named as the syndicate's "boss of bosses," Vito Genovese.

Subcommittee counsel Jerome Adlerman announced that the convicted killer and dope peddler would tell of a "gangland war for power and vengeance" which liquidated Peter Morello as the crime syndicate's old boss. The subcommittee said police testimony would back up Valachi's story.

Valachi has said that a secret commission then took command of La Cosa Nostra but that Genovese muscled in to become—as Valachi put it—"boss of bosses un-

Group Against All That Dialing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. was ordered Monday to stop converting any more telephone numbers to all-number dialing until further notice.

The order was issued by the California Public Utilities Commission on a complaint issued by the Anti-Digit Dialing League. The league contends that all-digit dialing is "dehumanizing."

Pacific Telephone has converted about 67 per cent of its system in California to all-digit dialing. The major unconverted areas are San Francisco, about half of Los Angeles, and a few outlying spots. The order does not affect areas already converted.

dey the table."

Valachi swore Friday he is out to destroy the syndicate because Genovese gave him the kiss of death and ordered him slain while both were serving sentences in the Atlanta Federal Prison last year.

The Justice Department has made Valachi available to testify, assigning scores of U.S. marshals to make sure that no one collects a purported $100,000 reward the syndicate is said to have placed on his head after he began informing to federal agents.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and the committee's top senators have made no bones about their motives in the hearings: They hope Valachi's testimony will spur Congress to enact new laws to curb organized crime.

Kennedy and Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., both want Congress to legalize the tapping of known mobsters' telephone lines.

Kennedy also has asked for new legislation to compel testimony from bawky witnesses in racketeering cases by clothing them with immunity from prosecution. Thus they would be unable to claim the Fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination.

Valachi came out of police-guarded hiding last week for the first time in the more than a year since he claims to have been marked for murder by Genovese.

The New York gangster, serving time as a narcotics racketeer, has been moved from the Atlanta penitentiary to the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan. There Warden J. C. Taylor pictured Genovese as in serious condition in the prison hospital with a heart ailment and high blood pressure.

Valachi had pictured Genovese as a powerful figure among convicts at Atlanta, able to run La Cosa Nostra from his cell and even to order murder committed. Taylor said this would not be possible at Leavenworth.

speaker's sentiments. He said there is no intention to pass either the tax bill or the civil rights bill alone but to pass both before the congressional session ends.

McCormack and Mansfield, flanked by other Senate and House Democratic leaders, talked with newsmen after their weekly breakfast session with President Kennedy.

There appeared to be a link between today's strong stand for pushing both tax and civil rights measures to enactment and a statement over the weekend by Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, a probable leader for the Republican presidential nomination next year, that Kennedy would have to choose between a tax cut and civil rights bill for enactment in this session.

Answering a question, Mansfield said he had received no indication when Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., of the Senate Finance Committee, would bring the House-passed tax bill before the committee for consideration. He said, however, that he would expect Byrd to start hearings shortly.

An administration nose count indicated it could not muster a majority within the 17-member committee to strip Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., of control over the scheduling of hearings on the House-passed measure.

Although Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., had indicated previously he would move for such a showdown today and Byrd was braced for battle, Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., said he did not believe any such challenge would materialize.

Smathers, secretary of the conference of all Democratic senators, said he felt it would be a mistake to try to wrest authority away from the chairman. Byrd opposes tax reduction unless it is accompanied by significant spending cuts.

Byrd said in a separate interview that the House had taken eight months to pass the tax measure and he felt the Senate committee should have a reasonable length of time to consider it.

The chairman plans to start closed-door briefings of committee members by congressional tax experts Thursday. He has made no announcement of public hearings but they may start with a midmonth appearance of Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon.

What the Senate does about the tax bill appears to be wrapped up in the timing of House action on President Kennedy's civil rights program.

The Finance Committee's hearings could consume two months. But they will grind to a virtual halt if the House gives its expected approval to a civil rights bill and leaders move to bring that measure before the Senate.

Estimates on the timing of House action range from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15, or even later. As matters stand, administration lieutenants lack the votes in the House committee for approval of the full program.

Once the bill reaches the Senate, the filibuster bat will be in the fire. This means that for a month — during which some around-the-clock sessions will be held — the Senate will give its almost undivided attention to the matter.

If the administration is to get any action this year, it probably will have to invoke the cloture rule to curb debate. This requires approval of the move by two-thirds of those voting. It will be touch-and-go to apply cloture on even a stripped-down program.

Faced with these prospects, leaders who regard congressional passage of a civil rights bill as imperative are quietly conceding that the tax measure for which Kennedy has been plugging may have to go over until next year.

Engineered better...backed better than any car in its class

The '64 Chryslers are here: the luxurious New Yorker (above); sports-bred 300; and the surprisingly easy-to-own Newport.

Clean. Crisp. Handsome. Designed in the modern concept. Bold but not brassy. Engineered by men who have accounted for more "firsts" than any automobile maker. So well built the vital moving parts are warranted for 5 years or 50,000 miles. (Details below.)

The '64 Chryslers are full of news; there's an optional steering wheel you can adjust, up or down, to any one of seven different positions. Bucket seats are standard on 300 models (passenger's reclines).

These are the '64 Chryslers. They have no junior editions to compromise your investment. Go see them. Move up to Chrysler '64.

Solid protection for a solid investment . . . 5-year-50,000-mile warranty. Chrysler Corporation warrants, for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, against defects in materials and workmanship and will replace or repair at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business, the engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excluding manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings of its 1964 automobiles, provided the owner has the engine oil changed every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first, the oil filter replaced every second oil change and the carburetor air filter cleaned every 6 months and replaced every 2 years, and every 6 months furnishes to such a dealer evidence of performance of the required service, and requests the dealer to certify (1) receipt of such evidence and (2) the car's then current mileage.

The Lincoln Continental incorporates significant increases in interior spaciousness and luggage capacity for 1964. While continuing its classic styling theme, the 1964 Continental is increased three-inches in over-all length and wheelbase resulting in increased rear seat leg room and improved riding qualities. The Continental roof is 5.4 inches wider in 1964, providing the car with a new styling flair in addition to increased head room in both front and rear seats. The car has a longer profile and is enriched with a new grille, extensive new body sheet metal and exterior ornamentation. The luggage capacity has been increased by 15 per cent.

DOROTHY DIX

THE PROBLEM OF OPPOSITES

By HELEN WORDEN ESKINE

Dear Helen: My husband and I, married eight years, have three children. The eldest, a little girl, suffers from neurological problems. Her brother is a sensitive but sharp little guy, and baby sister a joy.

My husband and I dated from the time he was 19 and I 15, till our marriage five years later. The real test came when he had to carry on independent of his father. It didn't work. Lack of self-confidence was the problem. He failed at his second job and, just as the roof was about to cave in financially, found a third job.

Now I fear he will lose it. Despite irresponsibility, he is faithful, a light drinker, even-tempered and helps with the children. We enjoy church, playing bridge, riding and golfing together, but not working together. I am the active type, he passive. All these frustrating situations; nervous ley.

Mrs. D. G. Richards has returned home from a week's visit in Memphis with Mrs. Richard S. Grane.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hays and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hays Jr. attended the University of Arkansas - University of Missouri football game Saturday in Little Rock and also were guest at a buffet dinner which the Union National Bank had at the Armory for customers over the state.

child, dull husband and no money bog me down.

I boast of his good points before others but lack tact at home. That's my main fault, tearing down what I've worked so hard to build up. He waits until we are with others to criticize me when it is his praise I long for. Any suggestions will be deeply appreciated. —Just a wife.

Dear Wife: Most of your troubles would vanish if your husband could get on his feet financially and you could build up a savings account. The petty, nagging criticism you both indulge in is merely symptomatic of the anxiety over lack of money.

Since you do recognize his lack of initiative, enthusiasm and responsibility as contributory causes, launch a well-planned campaign to help him overcome these stumbling blocks. Take stock of his assets and liabilities in terms of personality, aptitudes, education and experience. His bad luck so far with jobs may be partially due to circumstances beyond his control and partially to the fact that he may be working in a field for which he is unsuited.

Everyone of us has certain special abilities, but it often takes a succession of failures to discover them. Your husband may feel frustrated and bored with his work. If this be true, you, more than anyone else, can help put him on the right track by providing plenty of opportunity for him to reveal his innermost thoughts, by cooperating with him in formulating a realistic plan for the future, in case he wants to change occupations, and by supplying unwavering encouragement and confidence. Above all he needs to know that he is not facing the problem alone.

On the other hand, the fact that you are the active type and he the passive could be the crux of your problem, in which case the only answer is philosophic acceptance. Opposites often do attract each other but have a rough marital row to hoe. Whatever the basic problem, recognize it, concentrate on each other's good points and remember that none of us is perfect. Your intelligent letter indicates an awareness which is half the battle. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Disposition."

Dear Helen: Our 3-month-old son is to be baptized next month. Originally my husband's sister and her husband were to be godparents but, unfortunately, are not now able to accept. My best girl friend would feel honored to act as our son's godmother but there isn't an eligible close friend for godfather. Would it be appropriate to have only a godmother? —Anxious Mother

Dear Anxious Mother: The number of godparents a child has is purely arbitrary. But to be on the safe side, why don't you check with your minister? It's entirely possible for your husband's sister and her husband to be godparents by proxy. I have several godchildren whose christenings I never attended.

I
Dear Helen: I am 16 and in love with a boy the same age. My parents don't approve of him or his family and talk about this constantly without knowing how he and I feel toward each other. Mom thinks I'm too young to date. I'm miserable when I don't see him. How can I tell my father and mother all this without their getting mad and trying to break us up? —Juliet

Dear Juliet: Shakespeare wrote, "All these woes shall serve for sweet discourses in (your) time to come." Be patient. Be philosophical. Remember: "Adversity's sweet milk, philosophy."

Have you a problem Perhaps Helen Worden Eskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sunshine and Cool Nights

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Plenty of sunshine, cool nights, mild days and excellent harvesting conditions sum up Arkansas' weather today.

And it looks like a repeat of today's weather is in store for most of the remainder of the week.

The forecast calls for fair and a little warmer through Wednesday with highs today 78 to 84 and lows tonight 46 to 54.

The Weather Bureau said a cold front is expected to push south-eastward and move through the Mid-South Wednesday night and Thursday. No rain was expected.

Low temperatures in the state dipped to the mid 20s this morning. Highs were in the mid to high 70s Monday.

First showings: the 1964 Lincoln Continental.
Discover the greater spaciousness behind its classic profile.

When you inspect the new Continental you will discover why more than half the people who buy in our price range choose the Continental.

Notice the greater passenger room.

Come in, and inspect the new Continental yourself. Its profile is only three inches longer than in 1961-2-3. Yet you will find a roomier rear compartment, with four inches more leg room and 2.5 inches more knee room than in 1963. This makes for twice the knee room of the 1961 and 1962 Continental. And the luggage compartment is 15% larger, for a total increase of 33% over 1961-2.

But with all this added space, the Continental retains all the qualities that set it apart from every other automobile:

1. Timeless styling is a prime reason the Continental retains so high a value.
2. The Continental is available in just two models: the sedan and the convertible. There are no lower priced models, because there is no compromise of its standards to offer lesser versions.
3. Both the sedan and the convertible have four doors opening at the center for the easiest entrance. Continental offers the only American four-door convertible.
4. The unusual rigidity of integral construction contributes to its unequalled ride.

5. Within, virtually every luxury is included as standard equipment.
6. The Continental also includes full power auxiliaries as standard equipment.
7. The Continental is built at Wixom, Michigan, in a special plant which sets the world's highest standards of precision automotive engineering.
8. No other car is so thoroughly tested. Every Continental must pass 189 road performance tests in addition to thousands of examinations and inspections during manufacture.
9. The Continental is uniquely free from maintenance. It is constructed to last.

Before you decide on your next automobile, drive the Continental. It is the world's finest automobile. Please call, and we will be happy to arrange a demonstration at your convenience.

The NIGHT, The WOMAN

THE STORY: Blake Carden has discovered the murder of Valerie Hayward on her yacht. He thinks his brother Todd is responsible for the crime.

The NIGHT, The WOMAN

XIV
When he reached the house, it was full of quiet. The door of the judge's room was closed; evidently the judge was asleep. In his bedroom, Blake stripped off his damp shirt and slacks, hung them over the backs of chairs to dry, then put on his pajamas. The mirror showed him a reddened, swollen spot over his left eyebrow where his forehead had struck the outboard motor. It was tender to the touch; before long it would turn livid.

The NIGHT, The WOMAN

Todd was in the kitchen, wearing pajamas, running tap water into a tall glass loaded with whisky. Taking a stiff swallow, he noticed the mark on Blake's forehead and raised his eyebrows. Blake ignored that. He stared unbelievably at Todd, thinking that there was a man who had killed a woman tonight and he looked as if nothing at all had happened. Outwardly, in fact, Todd seemed more composed than Blake felt. Perhaps it was the dreamlike numbness of emotional exhaustion, an inability to realize fully what he had done.

The NIGHT, The WOMAN

"Couldn't get to sleep," he said matter-of-factly.
"I know Val's dead."
Todd held himself motionless, his glass half raised. Except for one flicker of shock, his face didn't change, but his mind was aroused and racing; Blake could sense it. He brushed through the doorway past Blake, then paused, looking back with a frown.

The NIGHT, The WOMAN

"How do you know that?"
"I saw her."
Todd turned again and went farther into the living room. He chose his favorite chair, sat, and tasted his drink again. When he looked up, there was glimmer of challenge in his eyes.

The NIGHT, The WOMAN

"Well Go on."
"I know you killed her."
Now Todd tightened. He sat up, the beginning of anger coloring his face, and looked around quickly as if fearful that Ruth or the judge might overhear.

The NIGHT, The WOMAN

"Keep your voice down!" His own voice was lowered hoarsely. "You know no such thing!"

Abe Mighty Happy With Horned Frogs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Coach Abe Martin of Texas Christian is so enthusiastic about his football team he might pick it to win Saturday's big Southwest Conference game with Arkansas if he was prodded enough.

Of course, it's about time. The Frogs haven't been able to handle Arkansas in four years.

"Arkansas has a good team. The Frogs are a good football team. It will be a tight, rugged, hard game. We are not scared," said Martin, who seemed to be indicating he thought his team just ought to take those Razorbacks in two this time.

Coach Frank Broyles of Arkansas didn't have much to say about it. He was busy Monday trying to plug in the leaks that developed in the 7-6 loss to Missouri. His only change was to shift Jerry Jones from fullback to guard. Guard was where Jones played in the first place.

Coach Jess Neely of Rice also was feeling good over his team's showing in the 21-12 victory over Louisiana State. And he wasn't building Penn State, the next opponent, into an ogre, as is customary with most coaches.

Texas Tech and Texas A&M, who meet in the other conference game of the week, reported injuries to be concerned about.

The Aggies may have to play without halfback George Hargott, who got his knee hurt in the Ohio State game last week. Texas Tech had several players bruised up in the Texas game with tackle Jimmy Walker likely to be out Saturday night because of a bruised thigh.

Southern Methodist, which plays Air Force at Dallas Saturday, will have a radically changed lineup. Coach Hayden Fry advanced six players to the first team and he also listed three guards on the ailing list.

Baylor came out of its 27-0 victory over Houston in relatively good shape. Only sophomore tackle Chris Breedlove got an injury.

Coach Darrell Royal of Texas was bravely trying to indicate his team was thinking of Oklahoma State as it returned to practice but he let it slip that the boys were also thinking about Oklahoma.

Porks Drop Out of Top 10 Standings

By JOHN CHANDLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Oklahoma Sooners, who have gone through a seven-year drought since their last championship team, took over first place by a landslide today in the second Associated Press weekly poll of the nation's Top Ten football teams.

Oklahoma, which defeated the 1962 national champion Southern California Trojans Saturday 17-12 in blistering 105-degree heat at Los Angeles, vaulted from third to the No. 1 rating by polling 56 of the 53 first-place votes from a special panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The Trojans, who received 23 first-place votes a week ago, skidded to eighth place. Arkansas, No. 8 last week, dropped out after being defeated by Missouri 7-6.

While Alabama remained in the challenging No. 2 spot, and other teams were slightly jiggled in the ratings, Mississippi edged back into the picture at the No. 10 spot after blasting Kentucky 31-7. Ole Miss, rated No. 2 in the opening poll, had dropped from the first ten after being held to a scoreless tie by Memphis State.

Coach Bud Wilkinson's Oklahoma Sooners, who ranked No. 8 in the 1962 final season poll, received 455 points in the latest consensus, based on 10 points for first, nine for second, etc.

The top ten, with first-place votes in parentheses:

1. Oklahoma (36)	405
2. Alabama (9)	402
3. Texas (2)	385
4. Wisconsin (1)	290

Indians Fire Hurler Coach Mel Harder

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Baseballs take funny bounces, 'oo. Ask Mel Harder, who was fired as Cleveland pitching coach and replaced by Early Wynn, the man he taught to pitch so well.

Harder was an institution in Cleveland—until Monday. Then Gabe Paul, the Indians' general manager, fired Harder, 53, who had been with Cleveland for 35 years, a record tenure in baseball.

The man Paul turned to was Wynn, 43, who came back this year to win his 300th major league game—and did it, although he lost two games along the way.

"Early was reluctant to take the position with us only because he didn't want anyone to think he was seeking Mel's job," said Manager Birdie Tebbetts.

"I simply told Early that Mel wasn't going to be with us next year in any case. And that if he wouldn't accept the offer to become our pitching coach, we'd bring in somebody else."

Harder joined the Indians in 1928 and posted a 223-186 record in 20 seasons as a Tribe pitcher.

He was a player-coach in 1947, but had devoted full time to teaching since the 1948 season, when the Indians became world champions.

"I'm checking out a few clubs," he said. "About four years ago, the Yankees and White Sox offered me a coaching position. Maybe somebody will want me now."

The Indians didn't give any reasons for the firing, but it's no secret that the front office has been unhappy about the Cleveland pitching staff.

Wynn is being taken off the active roster and his pitching days probably are over. "It's not in his mind or mine to reactivate him," said Tebbetts.

Odds Favoring Yankees in World Series

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The odds favoring the New York Yankees by 7½-5 returned to normal today as did the reports on the temperature of Sandy Koufax, the Los Angeles Dodgers' brilliant left-hander who will pitch the World Series opener at Yankee Stadium Wednesday against Whitey Ford.

The odds began to fluctuate as rumors flew that Koufax, who posted a 25-5 record during the season, had come down with the flu. When the Dodgers arrived in New York late Monday night, Koufax said he never had the flu, only a slight cold.

"It's all over now," said Koufax. Dodger Manager Walter Alston, asked about Koufax' cold, said briskly: "Tell them he'll pitch."

While Alston was expressing no doubts about his pitching ace, he was concerned about two others, third baseman Ken McMullen and veteran left-hander Johnny Podres, who became a questionable second game starter.

McMullen pulled a hamstring muscle last Thursday and has not played since. Alston thinks the youngster will be able to start but if he cannot, Jim Gilliam will switch over to third base and Dick Tracowski, a light-hitting, good-fielding reserve, will open at second base.

Alston was highly vexed with Podres' pitching performance against Philadelphia Saturday night. The 30-year-old left-hander, who shut out the Yankees in the final game of the 1955 World Series, was pounded for eight runs and 12 hits in 2 2-3 innings. Included were two home runs.

The Dodgers' late arrival enabled the Yankees to engage in a long workout during which Ford lefty Al Downing and right-hander Jim Bouton took long turns pitching. The trio is expected to start all the games, even if the series goes the seven-game limit.

"Ford and Downing will pitch the first and second games here," said Yankee Manager Ralph Houk at the end of the workout. "It will be Bouton in the third game in Los Angeles."

"The club is in the best condition it's been all year," Houk said. "Mickey Mantle is running better than at any time since he got hurt and Roger Maris' back doesn't seem to be bothering him now."

Game & Fish Convention at the Spa

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The 17th annual conference of the Southeastern Association of Game and Fish Commissioners entered its second day today at Hot Springs.

Frank Briggs, assistant secretary of the Interior Department, told delegates Monday that pesticides should be getting more attention from conservationists than any other single problem.

Briggs said the President's Science Advisory Committee recognized an adverse effect of pesticides on fish and wildlife and recommended more research and controls on the use of toxic materials.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus mentioned Winthrop Rockefeller's offer to contribute $1 for every $2 Arkansians donated toward a $500,000 exhibit to the 1964-65 World's Fair at New York.

Faubus commented that not every Arkansian had enough money to give a lot of it away and still have enough to live on.

Walter Mims of Birmingham, Ala., director of the National Wildlife Federation, explained the work of his organization to the more than 300 delegates from 14 states.

Tennessee Game and Fish Commissioner John Stubbs of Nashville told a sectional meeting on Law Enforcement about the Tennessee training program to help fish and wildlife officers determine more quickly and accurately the extent and causes of water pollution fish kills.

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Linda Patrick 21, of Fort Smith, was named Southeast District Rodeo Queen Saturday night as the event ended at Pine Bluff. Miss Patrick was selected over six other girls in the competition. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Patrick of Fort Smith.

coach submitted his resignation to team owner Vic Morabito in a meeting Monday morning. The 49ers said a successor would be named later in the day.

Hickey had been under fire since last season, when a club he termed the best in his tenure with the 49ers slumped to a 6-8 record.

This season the 49ers, beset by injuries, lost all five exhibition games and three regular season contests. In all, the team had lost 10 straight exhibition and regular season games.

Replacement Is Named for Hickey

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Red Hickey is out, Jack Christiansen is in but the question is the same: Can the San Francisco 49ers win in the National Football League? Hickey, the fiery redhead who starred at Arkansas and played end for the Los Angeles Rams, quit Monday in the wake of a 45-14 loss to the Minnesota Vikings.

Hours later Jack Christiansen, out of Colorado State and a six-year All-Pro with the Detroit Lions defensive secondary, was named in Hickey's place. Christiansen joined the 49ers in 1953 as coach for the defensive backs, the same season Hickey took over as head man, relieving Frankie Albert.

Hickey said he had considered the move for a couple of weeks "unless we started winning." The loss string stands at 10 straight—two from last year's regular campaign, five exhibition games and three regular games this year.

When the Vikings buried his apparently demoralized squad Sunday in Minnesota, Hickey told President Vic Morabito he wanted out now. Morabito announced tersely Hickey's resignation was accepted.

Later, at a news conference, Morabito emphasized Christiansen's appointment was for only the remaining 11 games this year. He denied he was thinking in terms of Paul Brown or Y. A. Tittle for the future as the possible 49er head man.

Brown was ousted by the Cleveland Browns last year and is said to be smarting to get another shot in the NFL. Tittle was traded by Hickey to the New York Giants because "he was obsolete." Since then Tittle has become the Giants' mainstay and 49er fans have been riding Hickey for letting him get away.

Christiansen, now 34, said the current 49ers had some good players and that he could produce some victories. He said he would use basically the same system.

To 49er fans it was all a familiar story. After 14 seasons, the 49ers have not yet as much as won a divisional title in the NFL. Ticket sales are down, the fans who show up cheer lustily and quarterback John Brodie has a sore arm.
